REFUSES TO SEND ELKS START PLAN UNSTAMPED MAIL FOR BIGGER HOME

Order Affecting Foreign Letters Does Not Apply to Domestic, and Confusion Results.

A misunderstanding of the recent order by Postmaster-General Burdison, regarding mail matter to be deposited without postage stamps, has caused confusion in the department, according to a statement given out yesterday by the Post Office Department. On January 21, 1914, an order was issued providing that mail intended for foreign countries should be stamped with postage stamps, and that the amount of postage should be paid by the sender. The order did not apply to domestic mail, and although it has been fully published since that time, confusion still exists in the minds of the public and some postmasters continue to require stamps on domestic mail.

Postmaster-General Burdison sent out an explanation of the order, and it has come to the attention of the department that some postmasters are erroneously demanding stamps on domestic letters and other first-class mail matter. The department has been notified of this, and it is expected that the confusion will be cleared up.

KILLED INSTANTLY BY RIVERVIEW CAR
George Davidson, Five Years Old, Run Down on Ashland Street, Near Home.

MOTORMAN IS ARRESTED
Witnesses Say Boy Ran in Front of Trolley, and That Accident Was Unavoidable.

George Davidson, five-year-old son of Lucy Davidson, a widow, of 1226 Ashland Street, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when he was run over by an eastbound river view car on Ashland Street, not far from his home. The motorman, H. H. Stilson, was arrested by Bicycle Police Tiller and Gerring, and a formal charge of murder was lodged against him. He was admitted to bail for his appearance to-day in Police Court.

Witnesses told the police that the accident was unavoidable. According to their statements, the child, with several companions, was playing on the street, and ran directly in the path of the trolley. The trolley was moving at a good rate of speed. It was said that it would have been a matter of impossibility for Stilson to avoid running over the boy.

Coroner Taylor, who made a brief investigation into the case, announced that he would begin an inquest this morning at 10:30 o'clock, but would adjourn until to-morrow in order to secure material witnesses. The body was turned over to an undertaker.

Immediately after striking the child, Stilson applied his brakes, but the small body slipped under the trolley. The car's length before it was brought to a standstill. Several men sought to remove the body, but it was pinned fast to the tracks by the trolley. It was said to be a matter of impossibility for Stilson to avoid running over the boy.

Dr. Taylor said that death was instantaneous. The back of the skull was completely crushed, which was sufficient to cause instant death, he said. There were also severe cuts about the head and back, and there were abrasions all over the body.

The boy was the youngest of three children. The mother, who was told of his tragic death, was hysterical. She refused to believe the truth until she saw the mangled form, and then her condition became almost hysterical. Friends and neighbors tried in vain to console her.

SEEKS MISSING WIFE
George Vinson Reports Mother of His Two Children Missing Since Monday.

George Vinson, of 101 West 10th Street, yesterday asked the police to look for his wife, Mrs. Sally Vinson, who has been missing since Monday. He said, he added that he could advance no reason why she should have gone away.

Mrs. Vinson, who is the mother of two children, aged two and four years, was last seen by her husband on Tuesday afternoon at a Broad Street theatre. She said to be very fond of moving pictures.

Vinson said he returned to his home in South Richmond, where he had been called on business, and found his children weeping and their mother missing. He searched for her for two days, but was unable to find her. He said she was about 35 years old, five feet three inches tall, and weighing 110 pounds. When last seen, she wore a green plaid skirt, white waist, long gray coat and tan shoes. The police are making a careful search for her.

PARDON GRANTED
Woman Convicted of Forgery in Cumberland County Is Released.

Governor Stuart yesterday granted a pardon to Fannie Ann Booker, sentenced by the Cumberland County Court in April, 1913, to serve two years in the penitentiary for forgery. The conditional pardon was granted by the governor, and means that the woman has served a check for $2,000, which she has already served nearly a year of the term.

NEWSPAPERS MUST DIVULGE SECRETS

Postmaster Hay T. Thornton, acting under instructions from Postmaster-General Burdison, has issued notices to the publishers of newspapers and magazines published in Richmond, Va., and in the surrounding counties, to file with the post office their statements of ownership and financial condition. The notices must be filed in his office before April 1.

There are now seventy daily, weekly and monthly publications in Richmond, ranging from four daily newspapers to weekly farm journals and monthly scientific magazines. Most of these are exempt from the operation of the publicity law, as the measure is intended only for professional or educational character.

Of the seventy publications in Richmond, only about twenty are required to file their statements with the post office. These twenty publications must file a sworn statement of their ownership, financial condition, and other matters, and must in addition, publish the statements in their columns between April 1 and April 15.

Several of the Richmond papers have already filed their statements, and Postmaster Thornton will at once notify the others of the approach of the time limit.

A FATAL MISTAKE
AFTER YEARS OF SENSIBLE SAVING is the sad story told recently in one of our daily papers. A man who, having accumulated the snug sum of $9,000.00—the savings of a life time—foolishly withdrew the entire amount from the bank in cash, and had it stolen from his home in a few days. By this he demonstrated very forcibly the SAFETY of the bank, the institution having taken care of his money for many years, and the insecurity of the home as a place for the safe keeping of money. There is no safer depository for your earnings than a strong bank.

LIBRARY WORKERS MUCH ENCOURAGED
Finance Committee to Act When It Gets Map Showing Street Lines in Campus.

INTERVIEW WITH MEREDITH
Satisfied That Council Will Indorse Plan Long Urged by the Public.

The action of the Council Committee on Finance in delaying action on an appropriation for a public library, it was explained yesterday, does not mean that the committee has tabled the proposition. The matter was continued because of the fact that the committee did not have before it certain drawings and maps setting out the lines of new streets through the Richmond College property. There was an expression of opinion adverse to the project, and it is thought that when the proper lines can be laid out there is every prospect that the city will secure a library building free of cost.

The city has been asked to appropriate the sum of $110,000 for the library site, the actual cost per square foot of the property being the same as that of other lots in that tract have been sold. The Jeter Memorial Hall will be turned over to the people as a gift, and experts have figured that it can be put in excellent shape for a few thousand dollars.

No Loss on Purchase.

The argument has also been advanced that by buying the property the city will be making a profitable investment. In the event that the library is subsequently moved, as the city has been asked to do, the value within the next five years will be within the next five years. The library matter, long a burning issue in Richmond, was brought to the Finance Committee with the approval of the Committee on Public Utilities. If approved, the proper ordinance will be passed by City Attorney Pollard for presentation to the two branches of Council.

A strong objection has developed in the Council, except on the ground that the location is too far west, but the library workers for the city are satisfied with the statement that branches will be established in South Richmond and the city will be serving the entire community.

Wyndham H. Meredith, one of the pioneer workers for a public library, said yesterday that he was quite hopeful that the measure would be approved, and that the long-cherished desire of the people would be a reality.

Hopeful Now of Success.

"The public library has been long delayed by the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's Club, the Merchants' Association and other social service organizations in Richmond," said Meredith, "but the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's Club, the Merchants' Association, and other social service organizations in Richmond, have been long delayed by the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's Club, the Merchants' Association, and other social service organizations in Richmond."

SURVEY CITY FOR FIELDS OF LABOR
Dr. Chandler Tells Equal Suffrage League He Will Undertake Work Next Summer.

An industrial survey of Richmond, intended to classify the industries of the city and to disclose the sources of employment, will be undertaken next summer by Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, superintendent of city schools, on his own responsibility. The statement was made yesterday afternoon by Dr. Chandler in the course of an address before the Equal Suffrage League of Richmond on the subject "Women and Education." An accurate knowledge of local conditions, such as can be obtained only by an industrial survey, is imperative for an intelligent planning of the vocational and industrial classes of the city schools, he said.

The rooms of the league on North Second Street were crowded. Dr. Chandler's help is vitally required to achieve needed legislation, said Dr. Chandler. More women than men are interested in the cause of education, he said, and there are far more teachers than men teachers in the public schools of the State. For that reason, he said, he was particularly speaking to women on the subject of education.

DETECTIVES FAIL TO CAPTURE FIEND
Negro Who Attacked White Woman in New Kent Thought to Be on Way to Richmond.

Believing that the negro who yesterday attacked and robbed Mrs. Hay Parkley at her home at Tunstall, New Kent County, was making his way toward Richmond, Detective-Sergeants Wiley and Bellum and Detective Bryant left the city yesterday afternoon and made a thorough search of the vicinity of South River but failed to locate the fugitive. A long-distance telephone message to Chief of Police Werner described the assailant as a large, black negro, wearing a white hat. That was the only clue on which the police had to work.

The detectives boarded a car and went as far as Fair Oaks, walking from there to the home of Mrs. Parkley. They did not return to Richmond until last night at 9 o'clock, after they were unable to find any trace of him.

A long-distance telephone message from Quantico to The Times-Dispatch yesterday afternoon stated that a widespread search was being made for the negro, and that officers were being assisted by citizens.

The police here were not in possession of any details of the attack upon Mrs. Parkley. It was learned, however, that she was alone at the time. When the negro entered, he brutally attacked her and left her unconscious. Last night an effort was made to get bloodhounds from Richmond, but it was decided to give up the plan until this morning, when dogs will be put on the trail.

BRAXTON LEAVES ESTATE OF FAMILY
Will of Richmond Lawyer, Written on February 14, Probated in Staunton.

A special dispatch to The Times-Dispatch from Staunton said:

The last will and testament of A. Caperton Braxton was entered for record in the city clerk's office to-day. Under its provision it left to Mrs. Braxton such books and articles of furniture as she might desire and a sum sufficient to increase her present property to $100,000. To his brother, Carter Braxton, was left $15,000, and to his daughter, Mrs. Mary Braxton, $10,000. The will was dated February 14, 1914, and was signed by A. Caperton Braxton, who was 82 years of age at the time of his death. He was a native of Virginia, and had lived in Staunton for many years.

W. G. GWATKIN MADE STATE IS WAGING WAR ON HOOKWORM
INCOME TAX AGENT

Additional Inspector Named, and Dispensaries to Be Opened Shortly.

The State Board of Health announced yesterday several changes in the personnel of the force waging war on the hookworm in Virginia. The early closing of the rural public schools, which the hookworm inspectors have been working for some months, will open the way for the summer dispensary campaign.

Reports have been received of the special examination of school children in Page, Rappahannock and Frederick Counties. In Page County, hookworm infection was found to be very low, scarcely exceeding 3 per cent. In Page the school children found to be infected averaged 10 per cent of the school population.
